Hamilton Carries Milam County Vote

A small Milam County vote Saturday favored Robert W. Hamilton for associate justice of the Texas Supreme Court while Cameron area precinct voters nominated LaVert McKinney for Precinct 2 commissioner and incumbent B. G. Rice for Precinct 1 justice of the peace.

A total of 2,072 votes were counted in county-wide balloting for the supreme court place as Hamilton rated the Milam nod, 1132 to 940, over J. Edwin Smith, of Houston.

McKinney drew 1033 votes to defeat Robert Weems in the runoff race for Precinct 2 county commissioner. Weems received 871 votes.

Voting Light

Voting was generally light throughout Milam County and the state of Texas for the supreme court judge's race.

But voting in Cameron boxes was comparatively heavy. A total of 1110 votes were cast in Cameron No. 1 and 2 compared to 1536 totals registered in the July 26 primary.

Voting for supreme court justice in Cameron went: No. 1--Smith, 182; Hamilton, 189. No. 2--Smith, 278; Hamilton, 370. Hamilton carried the state.

Max McClaren, Milam Democratic chairman, extended his appreciation to voters and election workers for their co-operation during both primaries.

The election results indicated that a small percentage of voters outside of Cameron precinct voting areas went to the polls. San Gabriel, for instance, polled only a total of 15 votes in the runoff, but voters there polled a total of about 60 votes in the first primary.

2nd New Commissioner

McKinney's election brought a second new commissioner into the county commission lineup for the next four years, starting January 1, 1959.

He will join R. H. McCasland, Democratic nominee for the Thorndale district, as freshman commissioner next year.

Judge Rice's re-election was the second in a number of opposed precinct and county races this summer. Only other incumbent to be re-nominated on the Democratic ticket this year was Mrs. Ida Johns, incumbent county treasurer.

Other nominees include Wayne B. Wieser as county clerk, H. D. Maxwell county superintendent and Don G. Humble county judge.

Column 99

By Frank M. Luecke

He is rather short in stature, is nicknamed "Crusty" and has the ignoble habit of running around with hordes of his brown-skinned friends.

The Chinese call him "kin chung' for lack of a better name. And he is noted for his singing ability though musically his voice is a screeching tenor.

Some of his kinfolk are rated far better vocalists and practice their art from the less annoying locale of trees. When at home, he is known as "Gryllus domesticus,' but on the loose he is known by other names, less kind and less difficult to pronounce.

Some call him the cricket. I call him a pest.

Cricket and his friends, some several billion by latest count in Cameron, have chirped and squirmed their way into doorways, up walls, around corners and into this typewriter.

These crickets crackle to their death under the wheels of cars, wade through trenches of powdered poison and brave clouds of misty DDT. And still they come.

Like knights errant, they scramble relentlessly for light and warmth only to expire amid an acrid smell time alone can wear away.

— 99 —

Nothing stays crickets except cold weather. The city cannot wash them away (they plug up the drainage); darkened downtown streets confuse them for a while, but they turn to street-corner lights in nearby residential areas; and sweeping away their cadavers only makes room for more.

Some crickets fly, but most of them walk. By both means, they assault the walls of downtown buildings and hang there. It must be reminiscent of biblical plagues.

Where there is no stench, there is stain. Their imprint is everywhere.

Creatures such as these make Cameronites more appreciative of a cool spell and fall's first frost, the only permanent cricket deterent of the year.

Sept. 26 Deadline For Soil Bank Bids

The Milam County Agriculture Stablization Conservation Office is now accepting Soil Bank Conservation Reserve applications for Establishment of Maximum Farm Payment Rates. All farmers interested in placing their applications must do so prior to September 26, 1958, according to Alva E. Sanders, County Office Manager.

Sanders said the level annual payments will be, in many cases, substatially higher than in previous years. The average rate for Milam County is $12.00 per acre Maximum payment rates for more productive farms will be higher than for less productive farms.

The law provides that: "No Conservation Reserve Contract shall be entered into which provides for annual rental payments in excess of 20 percent of the value of the land placed under contract, such value to be determined without regard to physical improvements thereon or geographical location thereof."

Land that will be eligible includes land currently in crop use which has not been broken out since December 31, 1956 and land devoted to tame hay from which a crop can be generally defined as grain and row crops. There will be two maximum payment rates established for farms:

1. A maximum diversion rate if only part of the eligible land is offered or if all the eligible land is offered for a period of less than 5 years, and will apply to that land which represents a reduction in the land used for the production of soil bank base crops. For the balance of the land offered, the non-diversion rate of payment will apply and will be 50 percent of the diversion rate. If the value and productivity of land offered is substantially less than the average for the farm, the diversion rate will be reduced proportionately.

2. The other maximum rate will be 10 percent higher than the diversion rate and will apply if the land is offered for a period of 5 or more years consists of all the eligible land in the farm, or all the eligible land not already under and existing Conservation Reserve Contract.

Farmers failing to place their application for Request for Establishment of Maximum Farm Payment Rates before September 26, 1958, will be ineligible for the Conservation Reserve Contract according to Sanders.

Commission Okays New Milam Budget

The Milam County commissioner's court Friday approved a $375,683 budget for county tax year 1959.

Basis for the budget was a $31 millions county property valuation.

The totals did not include income from auto license fees for the four commissioner districts and other items figured as income in the districts.

O. G. Tumlinson, president of the Milam Farm Bureau, and a delegation of MFB members, spoke out in favor of a close study of the county surplus commodities program for close screening of workers receiving commodities.

Tumlinson said that farmers in the county were having difficulty in employing farm workers who were receiving foodstuffs through the program. He asked that applicants be screened more carefully for eligibility under the program.

County Judge Charles C. Smith defended the program, saying people spend their additional money for other items, the program subsidizes county retail sales and it brings local people food when many surpluses are being exported.

The budget included $9,000 for distributing and handling the program.

Judge Smith noted that 75 percent of commodity recipients were [illegible] that perfect screening in the program is nearly an impossibility.

The county budget included $148,300 for the general road and bridge fund with 33 cents per $100 valuation last year.

A Growth Analysis – Part 1

Herald Studies Development Through Farm-Industry

By Frank M. Luecke

The climate is right for industry --industry closely allied to the agricultural production of Milam County, industry creating employment for Milam County's labor supply, industry based on the established advantages of Milam County.

Can we get industry in Cameron when competition for small plants, large plants, and major industries is so keen? Can Cameron be so audacious to vie with cities like Waco, Dallas, Houston, and Temple for industrial growth? Can we modify our agri-industrial economy in such a manner to attract more industry without denying the basic commodity of our economy, the farm?

Industrial Potential

There is more possibility for industry than we would believe or deny. How else would Cameron have located Walled Lake Door Co.? Why would Texas business researchers predict continuous growth for Cameron and Central Texas? All of their calcuated predictions are based on population trends showing movement of industry first, then people to Texas.

Are we in need of industry If so, where do we find it?

This series will probe the background of our modern economy, develop the story of hope for something to reverse downward trends in farm population and correlate facts about our economy that show how we must meet the challenge of growth.....or lose to that challenge.

This writer does not propose a panacea for our future. He merely desires to develop information towards continued prosperity in a county long considered one of the richest in Texas.

Adding An "R"

It is audacious perhaps to discuss revolution of Milam's economy when evolution is best. But can evolution maintain stability in the midst of revolution? We can look around at our neighbors, Waco, Temple, Bryan. Yes, even Dallas, Houston, Bryan, San Antonio. They are within easy driving distance, thus they are neighbors. These cities are growing; they are building. With each new expressway they build, with each new industry they locate, they are draining our economy.

It was once true that established county seat towns were centers of trade and population unto themselves. But no longer. Aggressive cities would gobble up the buying power of less agressive surrounding towns. They spread avenues of wide highways and attractive commercial promotion. They employ the residents of smaller towns around them. They make attractive their residences and shopping centers.

Economics of our day call for bigness. We have huge corporations, huge cities, huge school districts, huge tax levies. But bigness becomes unmanageable when it goes beyond the point of qualified control. That is where cities like Cameron enter the picture.

There is basis for Cameron competing with larger towns, whether for industry, for residence or for commerce. The basis is quality.

The quality may be in the unusual facilities for certain types of industry. It may in the central location of its geography in relation to surrounding growth. Or it may be the ability to turn every ounce of Cameron's strength to work.

Quality Means Growth

With competition based on quality, sooner or later growth will follow. Location of industry alone has become selective. Industry, according to experts, asks for all the essentials of industrial growth, then for conveniences that its employees would require.

Suppose, the experts say, two cities have equally advantageous transportation, labor, utilities, climate and location. But City B gets the nod over City A because City B has more than adequate civic facilities,recreation, schools, churches and unity.

That is selective competition to the extreme. Towns like Cameron must compete for civic development as they compete for industrial growth, so say the experts.

Cameron has an uncommon amount of ability in finance, wholesale business and many other phases of our economy. It is highly competitive throughout all lines of retail endeavor. Camero n knows how to compete.

A New Direction

Modification of direction would bring Cameron as a city into competition with other cities for whatever we need. The experts say growth will depend upon industry and survival will depend upon growth.

Cameron cannot, must not forego agriculture for growth through industry. Our industrial growth indeed can be funneled through our present economic stabilizer, the farm.

There are many industries dependent upon agriculture and nearness to agriculture. Packing plants, canneries, warehousing, trucking concerns, brokers' markets—depend upon agriculture, Milam County's type of agriculture.

We now have three major maize storage and market facilities. We have a major cattle market. We have these facilities because Milam County produces cattle by the thousands and maize by hundreds of carloads.

But what about truck crops? Here we have sandy soil that grows outstanding varieties of watermelon, cantaloupe and vegetables. Have we not forgotten a place for produce to be marketed Have we not the resources which a canning industry could use in Milam County?

MILAM COUNTY'S

FARM SCENE

SC Program Improves Perrins Farm Future

E. A. Perrin of Cameron is well known in the county for his civic, political and business accomplishments. He is also outstanding in the field of soil, water and plant conservation.

For several years Perrin has owned farms over the county. On each of these he has always carried out a soil conservation program designed to leave the land better than the way he found it. His most recent conservation efforts are on his 170 acre farm just outside the city limits of Cameron.

When Perrin purchased this farm about three years ago, it was at a very low production level. Most mechanical conservati on practices such as terraces and ponds had been installed. In spite of all of this, the farm was going down each year. After analysing the soil and determining its needs, a conservation plan was developed. The first objectives were to open up the sub-soil, increase the organic content and improve the soil fertility.

Perrin felt that when these jobs were complete, he would then be ready for either grass or crop production. Hubam clover was used to open up the sub-soil, crop residues were returned to the soil to increase the organic content and commercial fertilizer gave it the added fertility as needed. Three years of this kind of treatment has corrected the main conservation problems. He is now establishing the entire farm to improved grasses and legumes.

His plans are to use these plants and their residues to keep the land at top production and at the same time maintain and improve the land for the next generation.

TAES Recommends Small Grain Varieties

By J. D. Moore
COUNTY AGENT

Small grain variety test were conducted on Grand Prairie soils near McGregor, Texas, during 1953-57 and on Blackland Prairie soils near Temple during 1950-57. which seed are available are considered in the report on these tests made by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

The following oat varieties, listed in the order of their preference, are recommended for central Texas.

1. For grain production: New Nortex, Bronco, Mustang, and Alamo.
2. For winter grazing and grain output: Mustang, New Nortex, and Alamo.
3. For hay production: Bronco, Mustang, and New Nortex.
4. For spring-sown grain or forage: Alamo, Mustang, and New Nortex.

Recommended wheat varieties are uanah and Crockett, Quanah have excellent milling qualities.

Cordova is the only barley variety recommended for the central Texas area. This variety is a smooth awned, early-maturing barley with an outstanding yield record.

The optimem planting date for fall-sown small grains is Nov. 1, but these crops may be seeded from Oct. 1 to Dec. 1 Oats also may be spring-sown from January 15 to February 15. All small grain seed should be cleaned for uniform seeding. Treat seed with Ceresan M. Panogen, or other fungicide to control smuts, blights, and other seed-borne disease.

WINTER PASTURES

Most of Texas has had a good pasture year, but winter pastures will still be needed to supply green grazing while summer grasses are dormant, reminds E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist.

Winter pastures reduce the cost of winering livestock and help maintain growth and production, points out Trew. He says many Winter pastures pay off from the dairymen have reported net returns of $25 to $50 per acre from winter temporary pastures.

soil standpoint, too, says the specialist. They cover the soil and prevent washing and blowing and the roots add organic matter.

Trew advises planting at the regular time in the fall, even if it is necessary to dust the crop in. He points out that operators who have dry planted in the past were ahead when rain did come, because the plants came up, grew off and gave grazing much sooner than where seed were not sown until after the rain.

The use of fertilizer can't be overlooked, for it will pay big dividends when needed, says Trew. A soil test is the best fertilizer dollar that can be spent, for this is the best way to determine the type and amount of fertilizer that is needed.

If the crop has to be dusted in, the specialist advises putting down the fertilizer, too. He says it won't be lost, because if rain doesn't come for the winter pastures the fertilizer will still be there for use by the succeeding crop.

Varieties of plants to use varies with different sections of the state. Trew advises contacting the local county agricultural agent for this and othr information about winter pastures. They also have copies of L-258, "Winter Temporary Pastures", which is loaded with information on the subject.

Moisture Conditions Favorable For Oats

County agent J. D. Moore reported this week that moisture conditions looked favorable for fall oats He added that sowing would start in September.

Cotton harvest got underway this week as maize harvest hit its peak. Corn harvest will get into full swing with dry weather according to the agents crop report.

Moore added that recent rains were beneficial to grass and prospects for fall grazing means continued good livestock operation in Milam County.

Plastic Worms Lure Big Bass

Of course, the worm is one of the oldest lures in fishing. Plastic worms, however, work differently. They pay off when worked right. Otherwise you are likely to leave an assortment of them hanging on the bottom of the lake.

A one-week report from Bull Shoals, a fabulous fishing place in Arkansas, reveals practically every fish caught there—that weighed over 5 pounds was taken either on a plastic worm or a jig and black eel.

In fact, the demand for these two lures has grown so heavy that many places are completely sold out. Some fishermen buy up every one they can find.

Others are going back to pork strips, which are almost as good if worked right.

In the first place they should, by all means, be fished from a boat. Certain waters pay off better than others, depending on the type of worm or jig you are using.

What emotion the bass feels, when he sees one of these things wiggling through the water, never will be known. One fact is for certain, however—the lure must be acting natural as the bass views it.

If you'll keep that in mind, and then control your reflexes you can catch some nice big bass.

For instance, it would be natural for a long worm to come crawling off a rocky point, or across some old logs or sliding off a lily pad. Worms don't crawl very fast, so your lure should travel very slowly, very evenly. It should quiver a little in the water, caused by the vibration of a light action rod.

A big old bass will hit a plug like he is mad at it. Sometimes he'll knock it completely out of the water. They seem to attack the worm differently. And here is where you must watch your reflexes.

First the bass gets interested in the worm. Sometimes he'll suck in just a little of the tail. You feel him on the line and you jerk to set the hook. The bass takes off in another direction. You were too impatient!

When that old black starts nibbling or sucking on that worm, just continue to work the worm slowly . . perhaps just a little slower than before. You will feel him nibbling, but don't get excited. Just let him keep at it. Sometimes he'll spit it out and go off and come back again. Finally, however, he'll suck the entire worm—or eel—into his mouth and head for the brush. That is the time to set the hook. Since the fish is on the bottom, he knows where to take off to. He'll run the obstacle course immediately. So — unless you can control him the next thing you know you'll be pulling back on the rod and the line will be tangled around a root at the bottom.

A plastic worm usually is made with two hooks, fastened with a piece of leader or monofilament. For that reason you have a double chance of holding your fish. With the eel, fished either wtih a spoon or jig, you have only the one hook, so it must be hooked well.

The black eel, which comes four to the bottle, must be attached to either a spoon or jig. Most fishermen prefer the jig because it is much cheaper. You can make one very easily by pouring a little lead around the head of a long shank hook, or you can buy them in sporting goods stores.

Four Countians Notified For SS September Call

Orders were placed in the mail Monday to four Milam County men for induction September 16 and six for preinduction physical examination the same date.

Those ordered for induction are: Robert Humber, Jimmie Lee Love, George Folsome Childress and Anton Vaclav Mayer. The preinduction physical examination orders were mailed to: Thedo Bezel Swain Arthur Lee Harris, John Joseph Dillon, Willie Willard Templin, Ernest Adolph Fischer and John Henry Dairy.

On July 28, the President approved a law which now makes it possible for him to raise the mental and physical qualifications for induction into the armed forces during peacetime. In line with this, all men who made a score between 10 and 30 on the Armed Forces Qualification Test at the Examining Station will be given a battery of tests when forwarded for induction acceptability for service in the armed forces.

Men given the battery of tests, must take 90 or better in two areas of the Army Classification Battery testing. At the present time, the battery of tests will take approximaely six hours to administer and those who fail to make the required score will be returned as not acceptable at this time and further identified as "Trainability limited".

Institution of the Army Classification Battery tests means, in all probability, that rejection rate for both preinduction and induction will increase substantially. "We are informed by Col. Morris S. Schwartz, State director of Selective Service" says August G. Kunz, Chairman of the Board, "that PIE and Induction call will have to be increased by State Headquarters in order to meet quotas."

Cammer's Cleaners To Reopen Sept. 2 With Top-Notch Service

Cammers Dry Cleaners and Tailor Shop will re-open Tuesday offering A-1 cleaning and pressing for Cameron customers.

Cammer's Dry Cleaners and tailor Shop has 50 years of dry cleaning experience, and owner Jack Cammer and Mrs. Cammer provide a topnotch dry cleaning service with a new odorless, lint-free cleaning system recently installed.

Cammer's services include a fast hat blocking service, summer moth-proof storage at an economical cost, tailoring of suits, jackets and slacks and all other services found in an up-to-date-minute cleaning and tailoring establishment.

And they offer S&H Green Stamps with every dry cleaning, pressing, tailoring or hat blocking job.

50 Years Old

Cammer's service started as Cammer's Tailor Shop 50 years ago the same location of the present business, 206 W. First St. Cammer s brother, Ben, started the business in a frame building once used by a Cameron doctor, a Dr. Jones.

Cammer followed in the footsteps of brothers Ben, Jeff and John and has built the business to its present, modern facilities.

He proudly points out that Ben Cammer introduced the first pressing machine in Cameron. And he says that Cammer's Cleaners have been keeping up with modern developments in the industry ever since.

Cammer points out the modern plant that is centrally located in the heart of downtown Cameron is convenient to people coming to Cameon to shop. But if they need quick pick-up and delivery service, he says, we provide it free.

The new cleaning building was built in 1946. It contains the equipment and spacious service area that customers like, Cammer says.

33 Years Experience

Jack Cammer has been in the cleaning business for 33 years and has been running Cammer's Cleaners since 1926.

"And we know with our long experience in the dry cleaning business that we can give service when you need it," he emphasizes.

Glass, The Florist Says It Best When You Say It With Flowers

After 27 years in the wholesale and retail business, there is little doubt about the statement above. In fact two generations of Glass, the Florists, make floral service and selection a pleasure and delight regardless of the occasion.

Co-owners Mr. and Mrs. Lester Glass and son, Donald Glass, present an array of flowers for that special occasion that makes a remembrance from Glass, the florist something really special.

Donald Glass points out that potted plants, sprays, corsages, bouquets, cut flowers and any other floral requirement are available in a spectrum of selections.

Greenhouse Fresh

He emphasizes that flowers by Glass are greenhouse fresh to their customers. Glass, The Florist grows most of their flowers in their own local greenhouses.

Freshly picked, the flowers are beautifully arranged by the skilled floral decorators at Glass, the Florist. And they are delivered in fast, efficient manner by one of five trucks working in Cameron and a truck in Rosebud, he points out.

"We consier the floral occasion in recommending types of flowers and their arrangement to our customers. We strive for the personal touch that flowers convey when they are given as a gift or special remembrance."

Glass's floral arrangements for funerals are done with dignity and grace befitting the need, Glass says. And equal care is devoted to flower and scenic arrangements for weddings and parties.

"Ask about our floral service for weddings," Glass recommends.

"We assure you that you will receive the recommendations that 27 years of erperience has proven will give a really beautiful weddit. Hydrangeas, mums, roses, gloxinias, carnations, glads, to name only a few are available most of the year or in season for Glass customers.

Glass, the Florist is also a member of Florist Telegraph Delivery Association, a world-wide group of outstanding florists that can send flowers to any point of the world by telegraph order.

"We try not to overlook any service that flowers properly grown, arranged and delivered should give," he continues. "There is something special about getting a gift of flowers and continuous attention by the florist makes receiving flowers an occasion to remember."

Veteran Mechanic Eddie Dodson Suggests Auto Preventive Care

Preventive maintenance is the most important thing for the life of a car, Eddie Dodson, veteran mechanic-owner of Dodson's Garage, 107 N. Crockett, points out to customers.

A veteran mechanic with a lifetime of experience behind him, Dodson says his garage offers the complete tune-up and check-up service that makes driving a pleasure.

"We can do all general auto repair on all makes of cars," Dodson says. "We specialize in wheel balancing and offer a fine brake repair and wheel alignment service."

Dodson and his associate, Cozine Sheffield, an ace mechanic of 20 years experience, check the general condition of a car before they tackle the specific problems at hand.

"That way," Dodson continues, "we don't overlook something else that the motorist might overlook."

"And we offer pick-up and delivery service for city customers and prompt service for all customers whose cars go through my shop," Dodson goes on.

Dodson sells Westric batteries for trucks, cars, and tractors as well as offering a battery charging service. And he has a good stock of standard name brand auto parts on hand.

Dodson's summer business hours are from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Sheffield, a native countian, is a general repair expert with 20 years of varied experienced, including work on naval motors, power plants and diesel engineering school. He also has experience in large car dealers service departments.

Dodson is a lifetime veteran of auto mechanics. Born in Ben Arnold, he has attended practically every type of auto school and worked as an airplane mechanic for four years during World War II. Included in his long experience and schooling is training in personal management.

Million Dollar Apathy. . .

It is interesting to note how little real interest there is in the expenditure and budgeting of public funds.

The Herald attended two hearings in the past week concerning school district and county budgets. In one case, no one but board members attended and only a few taxpayers attended the other.

Two elective groups were considering the expenditure of roughly a million dollars of tax money. Hardly anyone took interest in seeing the budgets before approval.

Members of both the Cameron school board and commissioners court noted the absence of taxpayer interest. It was said that no taxpayer attended the county budget hearing in 1957. Then none shows up last week at the school budget hearing.

It is true that laws govern the use of public funds in any political entity. But surpluses here and shortages there are subject to the judgement of the officials whose responsibility it is to appropriate the funds.

Good government starts with popular interest. Public officials are going to allocate public funds to the best of their judgment and experience. But how can they know that one item on a budget may be out of line with the thinking of interested taxpayers if the public does not review the budgets prior to approval?

Criticism of budgeting public funds usually occurs after the monies are allocated. A happy solution precluding a controversy would be possible if interested taxpayers and voters make their wishes known.

Our complaints may be lound and long if ceratin funds are not used as we would have them used. But then, how was that board or commission to know when their constituents failed to sound off at budget hearing?

THE LITTLE RIVER PHILOSOPHER

Wants To Be Foreign Policy-ed Like Kings In The Middle East

Dear editor:

After considerable reading on the subject for the past few weeks, I have come to the conclusion that it's used on foreigners more than it is on us folks at home.

For instance, I was readnig last night in a copy of a newspaper which an insurance slaesman left out here earlier in the day---incidentally,my foreign policy toward all salesmen showing up out here on my---grass farm is to accept their newspapers and free samples but don't buy nothing from em---where the King of Jordan over in the Middle East says his country can save itself if we'll just let it alone except for one small item.

"We can solve our own problems without outside interference, provided we can get some financial assistance from the United States, the King said."

Now that's the kind of foreign policy I'm talking about that I'm in favor of, if it's used at home.

For example, as a farmer, I don't want any interference from Washington. I can solve my own problems, with of course a little financial help. Me and the King of Jordan see eye to eye on this sort of thing.

Me and the King aren't asking for any Marines, especially me, I like the Mariens but I can't think of a thing I could use em for on this farm, don't want anybody telling us what we have to do. We'll make our own decisions, let Washington just mail us the money and we'll decide for ourselves what to do with it. This old idea that you have to be dependent on Washton for everything doesn't set well with me and the King of Jordan. If a man can't take some money and spend it like he thinks best, without calling up Washington to find out what to do with it, then the world has come to a pretty pass and old-fashioned independence and self-reliance have disappeared from the earth, but me and the King will stand as a bulwark against this weak-backed trend.

All I'm asking is that Washington foreign-policy me the same time it does the King Jordan and me and the King will take it from there. We've got minds of our own, and we can make it on our own, if somebody will pay the bills.

Yours faithfully
J. A.

Capitol Report

29 Deaths Predicted During Holiday

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, Tex.-Labor Day week end is, by custom, summer's last fling. For millions it's a chance for a little more swimming, fishing or boating before school starts.

But for safety officials, it's a headache. They spend the weekend picking up the pieces, totaling up the score of those for whom this "last fling" was really the last.

Department of Public Safety Statisticians, who base their "guesses" on grim experience, predict 29 traffice deaths in Texas over the holiday weekend.

Out to beat the odds is a combination of public agenices and private organizations cooperating in a drive spearheaded by Gov. Price Daniel.

Texas Traffic Safety Council, the Governor's Highway Safety Commission and DPS will be assisted by several statewide civic organizations and trade associations in emphasizing the importance of careful driving.

DPS will have 700 patrolmen on duty with two radar speed units in each highway district.

Governor Daniel has proclaimthe Labor Day weekend as "Deathless Days in Texas" and the following week as "Back to School Highway Safety Week." Through school officials and assisting groups safety tags and programs will be brought to millions of school children.

This sort of thing has been done before, every year, but there's special emphasis and wider participation this year. Texas safety leaders are straining to set a record of 10 per cent fewer traffic deaths this year. Goal, set by the governor, is in sight. Thus far, 1958 fatalities are 14 per cent less than for the same period last year.

Ultimate success hinges on being able to "keep the lid on" through the holidays ahead. If it can be done, several hundred Texans, not expected to be, will be alive at the end of the year.

NO SPECIAL SESSION

Governor Daniel said he would not call a special session of the legislature to entend unemployment payments to jobless Texans.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson recently ruled that Texas could not take advantage of a new federal plan to advance states money for 12 additional weeks of unemployment pay without a special law by the Legislature.

Governor Daniel pointed out that (1) the recession seemed to be easing, (2) the Legislature would be in regular session in less than five months and (3) more than half of the some 54,000 who had used up all their unemployment benefits were housewives, students or others only temporarily in the labor market.

But State AFL-CIO President Jerry Holleman sharply criticized the governor's position. He declared the state's unemployment workers have already lost $8,500,000 by Texas' failure to act.

Said Holleman, "If the oil industry or the insurance industry or any other industry were losing that kind of money and the governor had the power to stop it, I believe he would act.'

Daniel retorted that the additional federal benefits were offered as a loan, not a gift, and would have to be repaid by Texas taxpayers. "It is not a matter of picking up free money."

BIGGER OIL FLOW

For the third straight month, Texas oil production will inch up. Railroad Commission set the September allowable at 3,173,736 barrels a day on a 12-day producing pattern.

This will be a 288,302 barrel-a-day increase from August.

Oil production, cornerstone of the state's economy and prime source of tax revenue, was in a deep slump for more than a year. As demand dwindled and crude oil stocks piled up, the Railroad Commission was forced to make deeper and deeper cuts in permitted production. During April, May and June an all-time low of eight producing days was maintained.

Upturn began in July with nine days of production, continued in August with 11 days. At the hearing to set September production, one major buyer asked for 14 days, saying his company's crude stocks were at the lowest level in 19 years.

REFEREES

A credentials committee has been appointed to settle any hassles that may come up as to which delegates shall be seated at the Sept. 9 Democratic convention in San Antonio.

Committee members, announced by Executive Committee Chairman Longview, chairman; James P. Bailey, Houston; Larry Blackmon, Mineral wells; Mrs. Arthur Harris Sr., Bay City; Mrs. Dorothy Gurley, Del Rio.

Notice of contests (at least five are foreseen) must be submitted to the committee 10 days in advance of the convention. Hearings will be held the day before the convention.

NEW CURE FOR THE BLUES

I've always heard that women have a sure cure for the blues. Go out and buy a new hat!

Well. I'm not knocking hats or anything like that, but next time you need perking up, try ordering yoursel fa new extension telephone - in color.

Phones now come in cherry red; moss green, pastel yellow, aqua blue; light gray; rose pink; ivory, white; and light beige. They're not expensive, either. The one-time charge for a color phone is just $10. Installation and monthly rate are exactly the same as for a standard black extension.

With a glamorous looking, step-saving, extension phone in your kitchen or bedroom, or alongside your sewing table, you'll be just a whole lot perkier.

TIPS FOR TRAVELERS

And when you're making a trip, Long Distance telephone service can be a mighty useful traveling aid.

When you start out on a long trip, for example, you can't always be sure how far you'll get by nightfall. By lunch time or early afternoon, though, it's pretty easy to decide on an overnight stopping point. And that's the time to get to a telephone and call ahead for reservations.

At the end of a long, hot drive, just knowing you have comfortable accomodations waiting is worth a lot to your peace of mind.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

TEXAS CHAMPIONS OF FREEDOM

Prince Carl of Solms-Braunfels

Guardian of Peace and Independence

In the heart of Texas today a beautiful little city owes its peaceful prosperity to a German prince who gave up a brilliant career to lead his humbler neighbors to their promised land, "the Free State of Texas."

But in 1842 in the young Republic of Texas there were difficulties. Land grants uncertain, maps inaccurate, transportation difficult, not all land suitable for colonization. Finally, after delays that would have disheartened a less valiant and patient idealist, Prince Carl started with his little band for a tract in the Colorado valley. The journey was never completed.

This was home, waiting for the good life they would make. Prince Carl bought the Comal tract for them, and their settlement . . still a stronghold of Germanic industry . . was named in honor of his estate in the Fatherland . . New Braunfels.

Today Texans still demand and get their right to choose the way they want to live. In this vigorous and freedom-minded homeland . . "Beer Belongs" and this is why the United States Brewers Foundation works constantly, in conjunction with brewers, wholesalers and retailers to assure the sale of beer and ale under pleasant, orderly conditions. Believing that strict law enforcement serves the best interests of Texans, the Foundation stresses close cooperation with the Armed Forces, law enforcement and governing officials in its continuing Self-Regulation program.

Electronic Brain To Process Local US Tax Return

Approximately 60 percent of the individual income tax returns from Internal Revenue Service's Austin District will be processed electronically at Ogden, Utah, beginning January 1, 1959, District Director R. L. Phinney said here today.

The Ogden Service Center, with its new electronic data computing equipment and other high-speed processing devices will eventually give even better service to Austin District taxpayers and with greater economy, Mr. Phinney revealed.

Ogden's electronic brain already is handling all computations on refund claims for Federal taxes paid on gasoline used on farms--41,196 were paid last year for the Austin Internal Revenue Service District.

The Utah operation also will flex its electronic muscles on the mathematics of individual income tax returns by issuing the bills for taxes due, and providing the information that Treasury Disbursing Offices need to mail refund checks for overpayments.

"Taxpayer contacts will continue to be with local and district IRS offices since the Ogden set-up will merely process returns received by our district office. After the machine work is done, returns will be returned to the district office where records are kept and taxpayers are served," Mr. Phinney said.

Yoemen Working Out Kinks In Early Season Sessions

By Robert Mann
HERALD Sports Editor

The Yoemen are at it again.

That's what anyone that has happened by Yoe High football field may be saying. Yoe gridders have turned out for three official workouts at presstime and coach Jim Speer reports that the boys are working hard and look good.

Most impressive players in training thus far are probably George Zarosky, 170 lb. end and Raymond Teperal 170 lb. senior guard.

The Yoemen have about 35 boys attending workouts.

Coach Jim Speer is running the boys through offensive and defensive drills with the line doing a little contact work. The main idea these first few practices is to get in shape and become acustomed to the routine, Coach Speer said.

Jesse Kirk, who will handle quarterback, is looking good and handling the position well.

Zarosky and Tepera are two of the most enthusastic boys on the team and will rate high for all-district. The teams biggest problem may be in offensive tackles. James Fontaine and Joe Humplik are fine tackles but both excell on defense.

Earnest Bayer, 175 lb. freshman ranks as one of the largest boys on the team despite his age and could fill a slot at tackle. Herman Koranek also could fill in at offensive tackle. Raymond Tepera will handle offensive guard along with either Griffin Barrett or Bobby Griswold.

George Zarosky has end tied down while Johnny Tepera has the other end. Jimmy Camp, Ronald Brashear, and Joe Gerick will also see action there.

In the backfield Archie Mraz and Allen Dodson are defensive halfbacks and John Wayne Josey is an excellent offensive prospect. Carroll Fikes and Bernay Dusek have looked impressive. Roger Terry and Ed Lierman will be good prospects. Paul Young will probably be the starting center.

The "A" and "B" squads work out each morning until school at 7:30 and also at 7:30 in the evening. sessions, Speer noted.

Coach Krueger Says B-Team Shaping Up In Week's Practice

The Cameron Yoemen 'B' team is turning out just as good if not better than the A team according to coach Bill Krueger.

Assisting Krueger with the "B" team backs are Warren Rinn All district halfback last year and Herbert Marek who received a scholarship from Arlington State. Ray Green and Gene Hillman are helping with the line.

The teams roster of about 35 players are eager to play and win a possible berth on the A team.

The boys are running plays with a little contact work in the lines. Each player is trying to be fitted to a postition and the more experienced boys are working out with

Big Dove Season To Open Sept. 1 In North Texas

Austin--Dove hunters open the season in the North Zone of Texas Monday with one of the best crops of doves in years, according to the director of law enforcement of the Game Fish Commission.

The South Zone will open one month later, except in the Rio Grande Valley counties where white-winged and mourning doves may be shot on Sept. 14 and 16, from 2 p.m. until sunset.

The director gave a few warnings for shooters:

Be sure you have your new 1958-59 hunting license, on sale with wardens, sporting goods stores and county clerks.

Shooting starts at 12 noon and ends at sunset. Be sure to check your time and don t shoot by moonlight.

The limit is 10 doves per day. After the first day you may have 20 mourning doves in your possession. This doesn't mean you can put 20 in the deep freeze and then go out and kill another daily limit.

Be sure to get permission from landowners for hunting on their property. You can be arrested for trespassing.

Don't shoot across roads, highways or public property. Stay off of wildlife refuges.

Your gun must be plugged to hold not more than two shells in the magazine and one in the chamber--three shots in all.

Look before you shoot. A charge of bird shot in a man's face has a way of irritating him.

Don't shoot from an automobile. Wardens will get you in a hurry.

Tom Murray's Column

HOW WILL Red Sanders' tragic death affect the Texas Aggie football program? Many Los Angeles writers had predicted Jim Myers, the man who took second fiddle in accepting the Aggie coaching job, would clutch the UCLA helm upon Sander' retirement.

Myers came to Aggieland in somthing less than settled circumstances and should he leave for California the parting would be no less strained.

The tough Tennesseean moved in, did a good recruiting job and like Bear Bryant issued endless statements professing love for Texas A and M, its alumi and tradition.

Should Jim be tapped for Red s job, the Aggies' skepticism for "loving" coaches would be understandable. The Bear worhsipped the Brazos Bottoms in print.

He is now loving Alabama. According to one big city newspaper, Duffy Daugherty, Sanders, Frank Leahy and Eddie Erdelatz professed a longing for College Station before turning a cold shoulder.

The Aggies no doubt pray the Uclans mercifully look elsewhere for a replacement. A major wing coach to replace Myers would not be easily grasped.

WOULDN'T THE A and M situation be in a mess had Sanders accepted their offer last spring?... Bill Whitmore, Rice sports news director, taking cognizance of five Texas ALLStars headed for Okl - homa, chide dOU publicist Harold Keith for not being at Rice Stadium to help disseminate news along with Southwest Conference word marketers.....Freeport Coaches Johnnie Redden and Flash Walker partaking of seasoned Pizza at a South Main establishment during the coaching clinic.....

Bay City may have representative football teams but will probably never wipe away the oldtimers' memories of the fabulous Black Cat juggernaut of 1942-43. Baker who later starred at Houston, W. B. Morrow, Bill Moeller etal paced a two-year run that had the experts wondering if Bay City, then a Class A school, didn't have the most powerful team in the state .. ....Blood-curdling rivalry begins early in Gulf Coast football. Nederland and Pert Neches, as congenial as mothers-in-law in an argument, meet Sept. 19 .... ..

Charley Carder, Bryan Eagle Sports Editor, will not have fond memories of Houston hospitality. His auto was stolen off a parking lot the afternoon of the all-star game.....Texas Coach Darrell Royal's reputation is yet thin in some spots. Registering for the coaching school, he was asked for his name by a Texas High School Coaches official,"Royal", he answered. "First name?" the regis-name?" the registrar quereid.... Could this be another year of the Nederland-LaMarque playoffs?.... El Campo's return to prominence under Paul Gips came as no shock to Floyd Elkins, his predecessor, now at San Angelo. "Paul's a great coach," Elkins says.
